Skating Popular

Hundreds gathered on the West Fork river here yesterday to enjoy the first good ice of the season. The ice is very good though in several places somewhat rough. Several others also enjoyed the ice on Booth's creek which was better than that on the West Fork. Because of the medium temper- ature of the weather the skating was made a real pleasure.

Drives Cross Country to Pittsburgh

James Ester, president of the James Specialty company, left in his car this afternoon for an overland trip to Pittsburgh. Despite the terrible condition of the roads he expects to get to the city on schedule time. There are now four men employed in the Pittsburgh office of the company and their Pennsylvania business is growing fast. Fred Fleming, of this city, is one of the men in the new store at 6016 Center avenue.

NORMAL TO PLAY SALEM JAN. 11

Hard Schedule Arranged and Coach Toothman Ex- pects Fast Team.

The very minute Normal school is recovered after the holidays, prac- tice will be started by the basketball squad. Coach Sandy Toothman has been hard at work getting his men lined up and when the season does start with Salem on January 11, it will be a real team that carries the Yellow and White on the floor.

Zeke Davis, all-state center, Happy Hawkins, Bill Hughes, Ralph Watkins, John Reed and all the other old stars of the Normal floor, are expected to be lined up when the start is made. A hard schedule has been signed by the locals and the team will be prepared to fight the hardest of battles.

The schools that are already sched- uled are:

January 11—Salem College at Salem.

January 15—Glenville Normal here.

January 16—Wesleyan College at Buckhannon.

January 18—Waynesburg College in Fairmont.

January 20—Davis and Elkins Col- lege in Fairmont.

February 5—Wesleyan College in Fairmont.

February 17—Muskingum College in Fairmont.

Games are pending with Marietta College, California Normal, Franklin College, W. V. U., Bethany College and Keyser Prep.

'Y' Team Hopes To Beat Pitt

The Pittsburgh Collegians, with one of the most enviable reputations of any independent playing organization in this part of the country, will have a real job showing the Y. M. C. A. five that they are basketball players. The "Y" men have a sneaking opinion that the Pitt boys are going to get set on. Peck, all-American center at foot- ball, will come as a forward with the Collegians. Whether or not he will be fast enough to get away from the guard that will be sent in against him is doubtful, but will be decided on the evening of the battle.

The team that will wear the local colors has not been selected as yet and every man is working hard to make the first string five.
